We use cookies on our website to provide you with the best possible user experience. Disabling these cookies may prevent our site from working efficiently. To find out more about our cookies read our privacy policy.

Information Learning Services
- Before you arrive
- About ILS
- Contacts
- FAQs for staff & students
- How to get help
- Services for you
- Visitors
- What's New?
- Job Logging
- Comments and Ideas
- Media Services
- Welcome to new students

Copying for educational use

Copying for educational purposes is permitted provided there is a sufficient acknowledgement and, in the case of the first category below (giving or receiving of instruction) provided such purpose is non-commercial. However the Act is clear that the copying must not be done by a "reprographic process" which excludes photocopying or scanning a work.

In order to permit copying by a reprographic means, (such as photocopying or scanning), many educational establishments obtain a licence from the Copyright Licensing Agency (CLA).

Educational purposes fall into two broad categories:

- for the giving or receiving of instruction, like teaching students how to make a film;
- for the purposes of examination (setting, communicating and answering the questions).

©2011 Jane Secker, adapted for use at York St. John University

© Copyright 2014 York St John University, Lord Mayor's Walk, York, YO31 7EX

T: 01904 624624 F: 01904 612512