Chancellor's Welcome

I am delighted to welcome you, your families and honoured guests to York Minster on this long-anticipated day of celebrations.

I am full of admiration for the way that you have navigated challenging times to complete your studies and for the resilience you have demonstrated. You have worked extremely hard for your university degree, and you deserve all the benefits that will come from your dedication and perseverance.

Education brings with it responsibilities, including the duty to make a positive contribution to the world, to inspire others, and to continue to learn and reflect in order to affect the change you want to see. I hope that after studying at York St John University you have also been inspired by the values that guide us as an open, innovative, transformative and ambitious community with a strong sense of belonging.

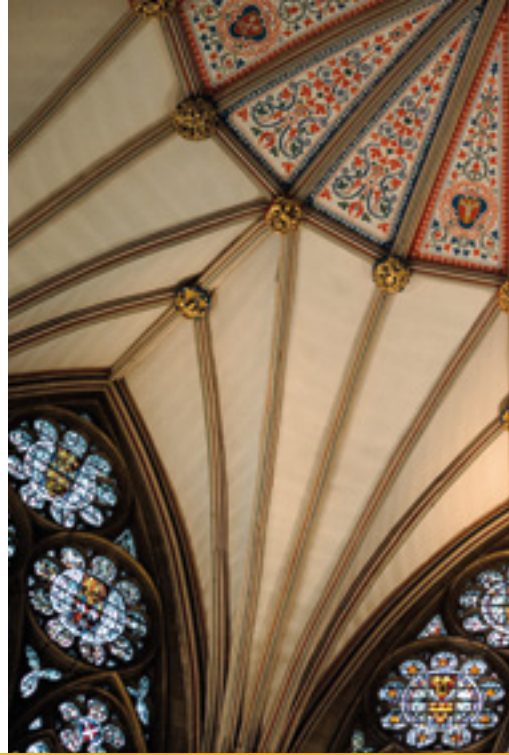

Those values have shaped and guided us since York St John was founded in 1841. They continue to sustain us as a thriving university with a wide-ranging academic curriculum designed to meet the needs of our rapidly changing world and the students who will follow in your footsteps.

Your graduation ceremony may feel like your final departure from York St John, but your connection to the University will last a lifetime. In becoming alumni of York St John University, you have earned yourselves a special place in our history and will become part of an active global alumni community.

I hope this is just the beginning of an extraordinary life experience, and I offer you my very best wishes as you set out to make your mark in the world.

Reeta Chakrabarti

Chancellor of York St John University

Vice Chancellor's Welcome

It is my great pleasure to welcome you as graduands of York St John University and to welcome your families, friends and guests to share in this special occasion with you. This is a day to make memories, celebrate successes and to mark a significant milestone in your life.

Your graduation ceremony provides an opportunity to reflect on all that you have gained during your university journey, the friendships you have made along the way, and everyone who has supported you on that journey.

Whilst this is very much your day, it is one that that our colleagues across the University are proud to share with you. Our academic and professional service staff have worked alongside you from initial application to graduation, and on behalf of them, I would like to offer you our warmest congratulations.

This year we are also pleased to be awarding honorary degrees to some truly inspirational figures who share our commitment of creating social change and making a positive contribution to the world.

Today you join our worldwide alumni community, which means that your relationship with York St John University does not end today. You are now part of the York St John alumni family – one which has been growing steadily for more than 180 years. Please do stay in touch and share your achievements with us.

Whatever your chosen path, I send you all good wishes for your future.

Congratulations on your graduation.

Professor Karen Bryan OBE

Vice Chancellor of York St John University

Archbishop of York's Welcome

On this special occasion of your graduation ceremony, may I welcome you to York Minster as we gather to celebrate, reflect and look forward with hope to what the future has in store.

This ancient cathedral has seen history unfold since the 7th century, being at the heart of Christianity in the North of England and part of daily life for those who live or stay awhile in the historic city of York.

Today, these surroundings of stone and stained glass become part of your history as you mark the conclusion of your studies. What a wonderful way to begin a new chapter of life, having completed your studies and now ready to make your contribution to the world.

As patron of York St John University's Institute of Social Justice, I share the University's commitment to social justice, and I hope you are also able to carry this ethos with you as you journey through life. I hope your skills, talents and qualifications enable you to play a role, big or small, in making changes for the better. Your generation will inspire us to speak out for those who have less than others, to tackle inequality, to reduce our impact on the planet and extend love and friendship to all our communities.

On behalf of the Diocese of York I am delighted to welcome you through our doors today and send my best wishes and blessings with you as you leave.

Stephen Cottrell

Archbishop of York

York St John University

York St John University has been educating students and engaging with the local, regional and wider community since 1841. Originally established as a Diocesan teacher training college, we have steadily expanded our course portfolio to offer a broad range of educational opportunities to people from all backgrounds. The world has changed unimaginably since our founding, yet our core mission and purpose has remained. Changing lives, creating opportunities and strengthening communities through the transformative power of education.

In 1841 we opened with only one student: Edward Cordukes. Today over 10,000 students from more than 100 nationalities, alongside 1,000 staff, make up a thriving learning and research community. We know students value their experience at York St John, as student feedback placed us 19th in the UK for overall positivity with their course in this year's National Student Survey (NSS). We are 13th in the UK for teaching quality in the Times and Sunday Times University Guide and have maintained our position in the Guardian University Guide. In the past year, we have expanded our London campus to meet the growth in student numbers and opened a state-of-the-art health simulation suite on our York campus for our allied health courses.

We value the social and cultural diversity in our community. We continuously strive to enrich our community by tackling inequalities, promoting fairness and challenging prejudice. We are proud to hold a Race Equality Charter bronze award for progress to advance race equality in higher education. Students like you have helped us to maintain University of Sanctuary status for our work supporting refugees and asylum seekers. As volunteers, campaigners, activists and ambassadors, you've demonstrated your commitment to improving lives and have contributed to a welcoming, diverse and growing campus.

Our commitment to opportunities for all runs throughout York St John. The Institute of Social Justice, launched in 2020, underpins our mission to stand up for social justice and facilitate research, projects and partnerships that help us to pursue and promote a fairer society. Their Living Lab project explored the impact of air pollution and food security in our region. We are proud to work with Refugee Action York to provide community allotment spaces for refugees and space for weekly drop-in sessions. Free community language classes for families in York and the surrounding areas have been developed to help preserve heritage language learning in children and young people. The York St John Communities Centre offers a one-stop-shop of public facing services to help meet the increasing need for mental health support in the community in York. These meaningful activities offer a sense of inclusion to all those involved.

York St John's experts explore ideas with fresh perspectives and purpose. Following growth in both the volume and quality of research submitted for the Research Excellence Framework (REF) 2021, 58% of our research was judged as world-leading or internationally excellent. Recent research by our academics has provided insights into singing for health, experiences of autism in mainstream education and student engagement with the climate crisis. Ground-breaking films from our academics explore parenthood, the cost of living, and the impact of the pandemic on mental health. Our Institute for Health and Care Improvement, launched in 2023, brings together expertise from across the University to find solutions to issues facing health and social care today. From disease detection and prevention to physical activity, rehabilitation and health promotion, the Institute works to improve lives regionally, nationally and globally. And Converge, a university-run programme which provides free educational courses for local adults with experience of mental health challenges, continues to offer a unique model of knowledge exchange and education for recovery. These are just some of the many exciting and innovative projects our staff and student researchers at York St John are undertaking.

York St John has always been a university in and of the community - our students reap the benefits of this. We play a leading role in the York Pride programme and sponsor, support and host several of the city's major festivals. This includes York Literature Festival, Business Week, the Aesthetica Short Film Festival and the York International Shakespeare Festival. Each presents exciting opportunities for students to get involved and gain experience. We collaborate with public and private sector organisations across our region. These underpin an extensive programme of volunteering, work experience and professional placements. This year we were proud to extend our collaboration with York hospital to launch a new exercise therapy service run by YSJActive for patients with peripheral artery disease. The University also hosts the Enterprise Centre, offering dedicated start-up facilities to support businesses in York. Through this facility, local entrepreneurs can access a package of free expert help, uniquely connected to the business support landscape via the York & North Yorkshire Growth Hub.

Sustainability and care for the environment are high on our agenda at York St John University. All our energy now comes from sustainable, low carbon sources and we are designing new developments to ensure our energy efficiency levels are among the best in the world. We've improved biodiversity on our campuses with more than 1,000 new trees planted alongside habitats for bugs, birds and hedgehogs to thrive. We are working in collaboration with wildlife specialists to increase habitat for the endangered tansy beetle, water vole and great crested newt in a dedicated wildlife area on our Haxby Road Sports Park campus.

The stories we tell about how our university has grown, achieved and changed are only part of the picture. The most important stories are the individual ones of your personal successes and struggles, ideas and inspirations. The friends you've made, the experiences you've gained, the work you've done and all you've learnt. We hope you will look back with pride on your time at university. We want York St John to have been transformational in the most positive sense and for you to carry our shared legacy with you into the world.

Your personal journeys are the stories that matter most at York St John University.

It's hard to choose the best thing about studying Biomedical Science, there are a lot of great things about the course, from all the skills it nurtures to the wide range of taught content. There is something for everyone who is interested in the medical world. The highlight of my time at university has certainly been the meeting of new people. I've met so many people from different backgrounds and places, all with diverse experiences, it feels so great to get to know them all.

Oliver | Biomedical Science

My time at York St John University has been amazing. The opportunities available for students are numerous and everyone at the University is very friendly. I couldn't have imagined a better life at university.

Bhoomi | International Business Management

You know when you just know? I walked into York St John University and it just felt natural to me, just so normal. The first week of the course I met my best friends, even to this day they're still my best friends. What would I say to first year Zak now? Keep pushing and do what feels right for you. Joining Dance was the best experience for me, it's helped me meet some of the best people ever.

Dr Debbie Weekes-Bernard

Doctor of Letters

Dr Debbie Weekes-Bernard is London's Deputy Mayor for Communities and Social Justice. Debbie joined the mayoral team from the Joseph Rowntree Foundation where she led the organisation's work on poverty and ethnicity with additional areas of expertise on labour markets, education, lone parents and young people. Prior to this Debbie worked at the Runnymede Trust as Head of Research, running their work on inclusive curriculum development, education attainment gaps and school exclusion as well as work on community cohesion, race and criminal justice and youth transitions. Debbie has made it a priority to ensure London's diverse communities have a voice in their city, working to promote social justice and equality for all and is a key player in driving social recovery from Covid-19 and through the cost of living crisis. Debbie chairs the Mayor's Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Advisory group, as well as London's Strategic Migration Partnership and is co-chair of the Commission for Diversity in the Public Realm and an ex-officio member of the London Policing Board.

I Honorary Degree

Hetan Shah

Doctor of Science

Hetan Shah is chief executive at the British Academy, the UK's national academy for humanities and social sciences. He is also Chair of Our World in Data, which brings together research and data to make progress against global challenges, and a member of the Social Metrics Commission which works to improve measures of UK poverty. Over the years Hetan has served on a number of boards which promote a fairer society. These roles include Chair of the York based Friends Provident Foundation which supports a fairer economy, and Vice Chair of the Ada Lovelace Institute which promotes artificial intelligence that works for people and society. He was formerly executive director of the Royal Statistical Society. An advocate for policy informed by research and evidence, he sees the equal value of social science, humanities and arts (SHAPE) disciplines alongside science, technology, engineering and maths (STEM). These values represent what York St John University stands for; a fairer society that uses an array of talent and creativity to advance knowledge, promote understanding and achieve educational outcomes for the benefit of all.

| Your YSJ Community

Congratulations on your graduation! This is a time of change, but one thing stays the same – you are still a member of the York St John community. Here at York St John University, we are a community for life, not just while you study with us.

For 182 years our graduates have been the brightest and best testament to the values we were founded on: community, inclusivity and social justice. We can't wait to see you shine, wherever life takes you.

Stay in touch

Graduating from York St John means you are now part of our worldwide alumni community. Wherever and whatever your adventures, we would love to hear your news and keep you up to date with what's happening here in York. We will send you an email soon explaining more about what it means to be an alumnus – and how York St John can continue to support and encourage you throughout the next few years and beyond. Our most up to date news can always be found on Facebook (@ysj alumni), Instagram (@ysj alumni) and Twitter (@YSJUAlumni) and whatever your next step, we encourage you to join us on LinkedIn (York St John Alumni). In addition, we'll send you monthly e-newsletters and an annual alumni magazine, 1841, so make sure you give us your most up to date details so you don't miss out!

Update your details here:

You're an inspiration

Our graduates are our most powerful ambassadors and we are always keen to hear your stories. Your York St John journey is a powerful advertisement to potential students, so please do get in touch if you'd like to share yours.

Our lifelong promise to you

York St John is your university for life. This means you are always welcome on campus whether you want to attend special events or public lectures, organise a reunion or come to a reunion we've organised for you. You are also entitled to discounted room bookings, library membership, and other special benefits. We also offer all our alumni a range of discounts on postgraduate study.

Don't forget that, as a York St John University graduate, you have lifelong access to careers guidance and support. You can book appointments with advisors and search graduate internships, jobs and events. If you're considering self-employment, our enterprise adviser can support you to explore and develop your business idea or freelance career.

So, whether you want to return to education, get some careers advice, change careers or set up your own business, we are here to help, whenever you need us.

| We wish you a very happy graduation day!

Support us...

We would also love you to help support our current students, whether through being part of our events programme, providing work experience or internships, guest lecturing or giving a career talk; your experience is exactly the inspiration our students find most beneficial.

And finally, as you know, access to Higher Education is becoming more and more of a challenge. Ensuring as many people as possible, whatever their background, can change their lives through education is the cornerstone of everything we do at York St John.

Every year, thanks to our alumni and friends, we change lives by providing scholarships to those who need it most. Your gifts, large or small, make a real difference to our students in reaching their potential, for more information visit yorks.ac.uk/support-us to see how you can help.

| Postgraduate Opportunities

Choose postgraduate study at York St John.
Led by you. Supported by us.

At York St John University, we are committed to helping you follow your passion and change your life with education. An increasing number of people are choosing to study postgraduate taught and research courses across a variety of subjects. Having a postgraduate qualification provides you with a greater breadth of skills, knowledge, and experience for the workplace. Continue your studies with us and build on the benefits of being a York St John University student.

Graduation doesn't have to mean saying goodbye to your sports teams and societies, or to your favourite places in York! You've already found your reasons to love living and studying here, and you can continue to enjoy that experience as a postgraduate student. Students from all over the world and all walks of life study on our postgraduate courses. Experience a supportive environment where you can continue to flourish as an individual.

Alumni who graduated from full or part time study at York St John University or one of our partner colleges in or after 2019 can get a Progression Scholarship* to cover their postgraduate course fees:

- If you achieve a 1:1, your course fees will be reduced by 50%
- If you achieve a 2:1, your course fees will be reduced by 35%
- If you achieve a 2:2, your course fees will be reduced by 20%

You might decide to take some time out before returning to studying. If you do so, you will still be eligible for a 10% reduction in course fees with our Alumni Scholarship. The Alumni scholarship cannot be combined with the Progression Scholarship.

Government-funded postgraduate loans are available. This funding option, along with this year's scholarships, will make postgraduate study an affordable option for more people than ever before. For more information, please visit:

yorks.ac.uk/alumni/scholarships-for-alumni

If you think a postgraduate course could be the right choice for your future, contact the Admissions team or come along to one of our Postgraduate Open Evenings. Please visit our website for dates and further details:

We also have exciting opportunities available at our London Campus. Choose from our postgraduate courses in business management, healthcare management, computer and data science and business administration. You'll study at our new campus near Canary Wharf, where culture blends with business innovation in this diverse and vibrant part of the city.

The scholarships listed here also apply to these courses and offer a great opportunity to experience life as a postgraduate student in London, whilst still maintaining your link with York St John University. To find out more please visit:
