Getting help

If you can't find what you need, or have questions about Library and Learning Services, you can ask for help at the Library Services desk in Fountains, or at the Student Hub on York or London Campuses.

Fountains

In the Fountains building on our York campus, you will find the Library, open-access study space, and IT teaching rooms. Fountains is also home to Fountains Lecture Theatre (F.T.002), the Yorkshire Film Archive, the Student Kitchen and Fountains Cafe.

London

In London Campus, you will find the University's satellite library on Floor 3, laptop lockers on Floor 6, and a variety of study spaces.

Your safety and security

We take your safety and security seriously. We ask that you don't leave bags unattended – unattended items will be removed from the building. In Fountains on our York Campus, there are lockers available so that you can keep personal belongings and valuable items safe. Please ask at the Library Services desk in Fountains about borrowing a locker.

Fountains Ground Floor

The Ground Floor is a space where you can study alone or in groups. You'll find a range of services on the Ground Floor, including:

- Fountains Library Services desk – your first point of contact for library, digital or study skills and Print Services queries.
- Self-issue points
- Self-service return point
- Self-service laptop lockers
- Open-access PCs
- Printers/copiers
- Group study areas
- Quiet study room
- Project workspaces
- Self-service reserved items
- Print journals, newspapers, music scores, board games, CDs, and DVDs
- Relaxed Reads and Wellness Reads
- Refreshment vending machines
- Stationery vending machines
- Chilled and boiling water tap
- Lockers for personal belongings
- University archives
- Study pods

Fountains First Floor

The First Floor of Fountains is equipped with open-access study spaces, with a range of areas for quiet or group study.

The First Floor is home to the Education Resources Area, the Languages Resource Area, and IT teaching rooms.

During the day, you can also enter the library on the First Floor using the De Grey bridge which connects to the De Grey building.

Books on the following subjects can be found on the First Floor:

- Computer Science
- Education
- Languages and Linguistics
- Philosophy
- Politics
- Psychology
- Social Sciences
- Theology and Religion

Fountains Second Floor

The Second Floor of Fountains is our Silent Study floor and is suitable for individual study only. You will find printers/copiers located outside the silent area.

The Second Floor is home to the Law Library, the Digital Skills Training Room, the Rees-Williams Collection of Georgian, Victorian & Edwardian Children's Books, and our Student Kitchen.

Books on the following subjects can be found on the Second Floor:

- Arts
- Business Management
- Geography
- Allied Health and Nursing
- History
- Law
- Literature
- Mathematics
- Music
- Science
- Sport

Opening hours

Up-to-date information about our opening times at York and London can be found on the website and through signage and printed materials available in each location.

Please remember to always carry your Student ID card. On London Campus you must have your ID card at all times. On York campus, between 8.00pm and 8.00am you may be asked to show or scan your Student ID card to use the Library. If you don't have your ID card, we're sorry, but you won't be able to use our spaces. This is to help create safe spaces for you to study.

W: www.yorksj.ac.uk/library/welcome-to-the-library/opening-times

A place to study

Finding your place to study is important. Each campus has a variety of study spaces designed to support a range of needs.

If you want to be sure of finding a space to study, try quieter times on your campus, such as before 10am or after 5pm in Fountains.

There are PCs, docking stations (Plug in and power areas) and study spaces in Fountains, De Grey, and London campus - on York campus some of these are available 24/7.

There are laptops available to borrow from the laptop lockers in Fountains, and London Campus. A small number of iPads and calculators are available to borrow on short term loan from the Library Services desk in Fountains, York Campus.

All student PCs feature the Student Desktop, which gives you access to the full range of student applications such as Microsoft Office 2016, as well as access to your University OneDrive file storage area.

Your study spaces on your campus are shared spaces — please keep them clean and tidy.

Media Equipment Booking (York campus)

Students can reserve and borrow specialist media equipment for coursework using the Media Loans system. This includes cameras and recorders. Use your YSJ email address and password to log in and reserve an item.

Please ensure you book at least 24 hours before equipment is needed, as it may need to be prepared for checkout and supplies are limited. Loan periods and renewal rules vary based on the type of equipment, as specified in Media Loans.

Booked media equipment can be collected from the ITS Service Centre in Holgate (first floor).

Borrowing and returning resources TOP TIPS

1. You need your student ID card to borrow items – your “borrower number” is the long number on your card. You will also need your Library PIN to log in to your online library account.
W: www.yorks.ac.uk/library/account
Your online library account lets you see what you have on loan, place Inter library loan requests and pay for fines.
2. Your Library PIN is set to the first four digits of your date of birth. You should change it straight away by visiting your online library account. Only use your preset PIN to log in the first time, then change your PIN to something personal and memorable.
3. There are self-issue machines in Fountains (York Campus) and London Campus; use these to borrow items.
4. To return items, use the Return Your Items Here area of Fountains Library, or the Issue & Returns machine in the library at London Campus.
5. York campus students can place reservations on items that are already on loan, via the Library catalogue. You will receive an email notification when the item is ready to collect.
6. Remember to check emails from the library. They contain important information on when books are due back.
7. For information on borrowing, renewing and more, see the Library web pages.
8. Library books belong to the University. Please return all items by their due date. If an item is not returned, you may be charged the cost of replacing it.
9. Returning books on time helps other students access the resources they need and will help you avoid fines.

W: www.yorks.ac.uk/library/borrowing

Looking for books?

Start with the library catalogue. It's tempting to look round the shelves but it's not a good use of time and you will miss all our ebooks (over 720,000).

Getting started

Your Library is here to support your learning and research. We have help available so that you can get started with using our spaces, resources and services.

Our Getting started with the library web page is a really great place to start. You can access it at:

W: www.yorks.ac.uk/library/library-study-and-digital-skills/study-success/getting-started-with-the-library

We also have video guides on how to use our physical libraries and our digital library. These are available at:

W: www.yorks.ac.uk/library/welcome-to-the-library

Finding resources

During your studies you will be expected to use a wide variety of resources to find the information you need for your assignments. This may be new to you, but there is lots of help available on our web pages and from our subject specialists to help you decide on the best resources for your subject.

Follow our 2 rules:

1. Download and install Lean Library from the Library homepage. This is a browser extension for your laptop/ computer that pops up to give you access to articles and books you find on the internet, all provided by the Library
2. The library web pages are your gateway to our full range of resources. Use the Library Catalogue on our pages to look for books, e-books, articles, journals, music scores and more.

You will need your university email address and password to access many of the resources available through our web pages. The majority of our resources can also be used when you are off campus, sign in using your university email address and password.

W: www.yorks.ac.uk/library

Specialist subject resources

You will also find a wide range of online specialist subject resources dedicated to specific subject areas, including:

- AM Explorer: search millions of pages of primary sources spanning 15th-21st centuries
- Anatomy TV: 3D interactive models of human anatomy
- Black Ballad: black UK womens' news and analysis
- Box of Broadcasts: a.k.a. BoB, TV streaming and recording service
- Global Data Explorer and Statista: world-leading company and market data
- IEEE Xplore: scientific and technical content
- Lexis+: provides access to legislation, and to UK case law, law journals and newspapers
- LGBT Magazine Archive: 60 years of LGBT magazines
- Proquest One Literature: ideal for literature research

Get help with Study Skills

The Library is here to help you develop a range of skills that you'll be able to call upon in the workplace and throughout life. Use our Study Skills support whenever you need, wherever you are. Our Study Skills supports and develops you to: search for, find, and evaluate information; reference; communicate critically; work with numbers and statistics; use digital technology confidently and purposefully. Make the most of the support available by visiting Study Skills.

W: www.yorksj.ac.uk/library/library-study-and-digital-skills

Referencing

Referencing is a way of acknowledging that you have used ideas and work belonging to someone else. You'll be expected to reference your work whilst studying at York St John University. You might need to reference:

- books
- journal articles
- web pages
- video clips
- newspapers
- and other types of resources.

Your Academic Liaison Librarian can give you advice on referencing, including the referencing tools and software that you might find useful.

Quick referencing guides are available in your preferred citation style, including: Harvard; APA; MHRA; MLA; and OSCOLA.

You can also access help via our referencing pages.

W: www.yorksj.ac.uk/library/referencing

We have a team of subject specialists who can work with you to develop your skills. These include Digital Training, the Academic Liaison Librarians, and Study Development.

Digital training and support

The Digital Training tutors can help you develop the IT skills you need to produce high quality assignments. Our trainers can provide advice on:

- Microsoft Office applications (e.g. Word, Excel, PowerPoint, etc.)
- Our virtual learning environment, Moodle
- E-portfolio software e.g. Mahara, Pebblepad
- A huge range of software support

The Digital Training tutors can offer help via email, or through tutorials (online and face-to-face) – visit the web page to book such a tutorial.

Microsoft Office Specialist

Our Digital Trainers can help boost your CV and get official recognition for your Microsoft skills. Email Digital Training, or check online for more information.

Assistive Technology

Our Digital Training Officer for Assistive Technology is here to provide specialist help, advice and training on the use of assistive software and technology for students and staff at York St John University.

Software to support your note-taking, reading, planning and writing is available on campus.

Academic Liaison Librarians

The Academic Liaison Librarians can provide expert assistance to help you get the most from the Library. They advise on:

- What kind of information you need for your essay, presentation, project or dissertation
- Which resources you should use to find appropriate information
- Searching effectively to find the best information for you in the most efficient way
- Referencing and help with academic integrity

You'll see the specialist Academic Liaison Librarian linked to your subject area as part of your course, but you can also book an appointment with them for focussed support.

Print Services

Printing facilities are available on York, Haxby, and London campuses. As a student of York St John University, you can print to any of the printer/copier devices situated throughout the University campuses. On York Campus they are available on every floor of Fountains and in Holgate.

As well as providing access to photocopying and scanning, you can also link your student ID card to these devices for quick logging in – see notices near the printers for how to do this.

Our Print Services Team on York Campus provide a full printing service including:

- Printing
- Photocopying
- Print credits
- Document and dissertation binding
- Laminating
- Scanning

Order from Print Services:

W: tinyurl.com/YSJPrint

You will find a vending machine on the Ground Floor of Fountains which sells many products, including pens, blank discs, batteries, sticky notes, sticky tape, memory sticks, highlighters, glue sticks and notepads.

W: www.yorks.ac.uk/library/print-services

Extra resource access

Request a resource the library does not have

The Library stocks the majority of resources for course requirements. On the occasions where there are additional items that you require for your studies that are not held by us, our Resource Sharing Service may be able to obtain books and journal articles from other libraries for you. There is no charge for using this service and the library will cover the costs of obtaining the items. However please remember that each request costs the library an average of £15 per item. For more details or to place a request, see our web pages:

W: www.yorksj.ac.uk/library/resource-sharing-service

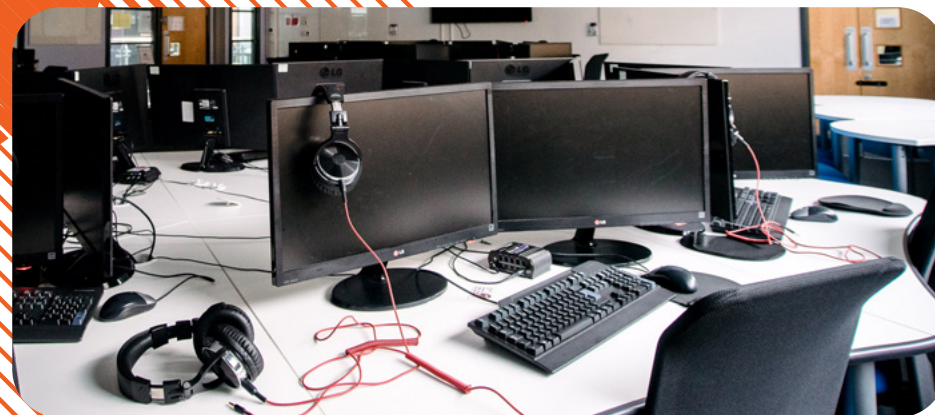

SCONUL Access

York Campus students only:

We participate in SCONUL Access, a reciprocal scheme which allows most York Campus library users to use (or sometimes borrow) books and journals at other libraries in the scheme - including most university libraries in the UK and Ireland. The SCONUL scheme is there to support research and is not intended to replace the core teaching and learning resources provided to you by Library and Learning Services. If you are registered at our London campus you cannot use other university libraries in London through SCONUL, because we are unable to offer reciprocal access.

To find out more about SCONUL or to find out about other resources available to support your learning please visit our Using other libraries web page.

W: www.yorksj.ac.uk/library/other-libraries

Accessibility Support

The Library Accessibility Service is here to support you in making your learning resources accessible if you have a visual, physical, or learning disability. Once you are registered as an Accessibility Support user, we can provide:

- Increased number of Library items you can borrow
- Accessible copies of books and journal articles for students and staff with a qualifying disability
- Book request service
- Self-service conversion service to create documents in accessible formats
- Specialist equipment and software including borrowable overlays

For more details, and to register, please see our web pages.

W: www.yorksj.ac.uk/library/supporting-accessibility

Researchers

We offer a range of services for research students throughout the different stages of the research journey. This includes:

- Open Research training including Open Access and Open Data principles
- Copyright advice for using and crediting resources and licensing your thesis
- Research Data Management support for developing and working through a research project

We also offer publishing advice such as identifying suitable publishers, selecting a publishing route and navigating publishing contracts.

W: www.yorksj.ac.uk/library/research-support

Your IT account and accessing library resources

Your IT account is the way you access lots of York St John resources including those provided by Library and Learning Services.

As a student, you will have been given a username (firstname.lastname) and set your own password when you enrolled online with the University. If you have forgotten your password, you can reset it by searching for password reset to get help in the Student Hub online portal.

W: studenthub.yorks.ac.uk

With your IT account, you will be able to log on to any of the PCs or laptops in Library study spaces. You can also use your own devices (phone, tablet, laptop) in our Plug In and Power areas.

You can also use your University email address and password to gain access to our free WiFi (eduroam), Moodle (our virtual learning environment) and Office 365.

If you have trouble accessing online Library resources please look at our Library and Learning Services help pages in the Student Hub online portal. The articles will provide guidance and how to get help.

W: studenthub.yorks.ac.uk

Please note: Whenever you change your University password, all devices (phones, laptops, etc) connected to eduroam WiFi will each need the WiFi password manually updated to match. If this isn't done, your University account may become locked and you will be unable to access Library resources

Connecting to WiFi

You can connect your devices to our wireless network in several locations across both our campuses and the city of York. Use your full University email address and usual password to log in. When connecting for the first time, you may need to accept a certificate. More help on connecting to our network is available online – simply search the University website for “eduroam”.

The eduroam service is available internationally, which means that if you are visiting another institution participating in the eduroam service, you will be able to use your York St John University credentials to connect to the WiFi service there too.

Accessing Your Email

You'll receive your York St John University email address shortly after your enrolment is complete. This is the way we will communicate with you about Library resources and support.

The format of student email addresses is firstname.lastname@yorks.ac.uk, while firstinitial.lastname@yorks.ac.uk is used for staff.

To access your University email, there is a webmail link on the student homepage, or you can go direct to the Outlook web app.

W: <http://portal.office.com>

To connect your University email account to your own device, the simplest method is to download the free Microsoft Outlook app from your device's application store.

Free Microsoft Office

Did you know that, for as long as you are a student of York St John University, Microsoft Office is available free for you to download and install on up to 5 PCs and/or Macs?

To access your free copies of Office, visit the Microsoft Office portal and sign in with your full York St John University email address and password.

With Office 365, you can store documents online and work on them in the browser from any computer. So long as you are connected to the internet you are never tied to one particular computer or location.

W: <http://portal.office.com>

Copyright Policy

Wherever possible, our aim is to avoid restrictive policies and regulations; nevertheless, the University is bound to some regulations, both legislatively and as a result of our licensing conditions. It is your responsibility as a user of the University's systems to familiarise yourself with our Copyright policy and ensure that your use does not breach regulations.

It is your responsibility to familiarise yourself with this policy.

Your feedback shapes your library

We review all your feedback each month and use your ideas and requests to inform what we do next. We provide regular updates on action taken. There are lots of ways you can provide feedback to us, including using our online form.

W: <https://forms.office.com/e/FSyWXXKmPCk>

Customer care statement

The following is our commitment to high-quality service and how you can help us achieve it.

In the library you can expect that:

- The staff will be friendly, polite and knowledgeable, and will take part in regular training to ensure we are providing the highest level of service
- We will strive to understand your needs and tailor our service to you as individuals
- We will try to give you a solution or referral at the first point of contact. If we are unable to solve a problem immediately, we will make clear what will happen next
- We will provide a range of study spaces and monitor their use and suitability, and will ensure that all areas are comfortable, clean and safe
- We will provide you with information on all our services, as well as any changes and improvements via a range of communication channels
- We will conduct regular shelf tidying to make sure that resources are easy for you to find
- We provide self-service issue and return points as well as back-up systems, in case of malfunctions, in order to provide continuity of service
- We will publicise our service objectives and measure against them so that we can ensure we are meeting our standards. We will use the results to improve our services
- We will have staff dedicated to phone and email queries

You can help by:

- Observing and complying with the Library's codes, policies, and designated zones; the IT Acceptable Use Policy; the Student Charter and the University's Student Behaviour and Disciplinary Policy.
- Observing and complying with the Fountains Library food policy, which states: hot and cold food and drinks are permitted on all floors, except in the silent room on the ground floor, where only water is allowed.
- Respecting other library users and staff
- Carrying your York St John University ID at all times
- Helping to keep the library environment clean and tidy and telling us when there is an issue.
- Responding when required to communications from Library and Learning Services
- Checking your weekly 'renewal status' email to see whether you can continue to keep your library items
- Making sure library items are returned on time so that other people can use them. It will help you avoid fines or replacement fees.
- Sharing your feedback with us—whether by speaking to a member of staff, or through email, or internal channels such as the Fountains Feedback wall, feedback cards, or our online feedback form—so we can continue to improve the services we provide.
