

This is a quick guide to citing and referencing using the Oxford University Standard for Citation of Legal Authorities (OSCOLA) (4th edition) referencing system. For more detailed examples go to Cite Them Right Online, or see the official guidance on the University of Oxford's OSCOLA page.

Your referencing includes three stages:

- a numbered citation in the text of your assignment
- a footnote corresponding to the numbered citation
- a reference list at the end of your assignment

Referencing in your text

When you summarise, refer to, or quote from an author's work, or from a legal source such as a case or piece of legislation, you need to acknowledge your source in the text. OSCOLA uses numbering for each source cited in the text which link to footnotes at the bottom of each page.

In-text referencing examples:

One author/editor (up to 3)	Alder and Syrett argue that ... <sup>1</sup>
Four or more authors/editors	Finch and others argue that ... <sup>5</sup>
Organisation	Research by Liberty states that ... <sup>6</sup>
Case (in italics)	... as outlined in Patterson v Munk . <sup>9</sup>
Legislation	... as set out in the Human Rights Act 1998. <sup>10</sup>
