PART TIME WORK INFORMATION

Benefits

Working part time whilst you study at YSJ is rewarding and can;

- Increase your confidence
- Grow your skills and experience
- Help you meet new people
- Kick start your career
- Receiving a regular income would supplement your finances, enabling you to budget.
- It's good to check what your tax may be if you have more than one job.
- Look at what area you would like to work in, and if there are any benefits from working at the organisation, such as employer discount.
- As your studies come first it is recommended to work a maximum of 16 hours per week in term time.

Make the best out of your part time application

- Tailor your CV and application to each part time job vacancy.
- Add any part time work onto your CV in chronological order.
- On your CV mention any volunteering or work experience skills you may have gained.

Where to look

- Look on our careers portal Handshake for part time work opportunities.
- Local businesses in York centre often advertise part time work in shop windows.
- If you have a job at home, it may be worth asking if you can transfer to a York store or vice versa in the holidays.
- Employers should never ask you for upfront costs. Do your research to make sure the job is genuine, and paying at least the National Minimum Wage.
