Introduction and Special Features

As the global business environment continues to become increasingly competitive and challenging, businesses need to be more innovative, take more risks and develop sustainable business models that serve their customers and have a positive impact on society's well-being. The BA (Hons) Business Management and Human Resource Management awards aim to provide you with a critical understanding of the management of organisations and the role of HR.

Studying the BA (Hons) Business Management and HRM awards are a great opportunity to gain a degree that is clearly focused on your long-term career prospects in a wide variety of contexts. You will be introduced to the concept of Human Resource Management (HRM) through a range of specialist modules, which will enable you to develop an appreciation of the theoretical and practical issues relating to HRM from a strategic, functional and operational perspective. The programme will challenge you to consider the key issues in managing HRM in a range of settings and its effects on performance, productivity and organisational reputation.

If you are studying on the BA (Hons) Business Management and HRM with placement variant you will undertake a Year in Industry (also known as a sandwich year or placement year), in between your second and third year.

Special features

- A focus on management which will provide the knowledge and skills you will need as a HR manager / advisor
- Accreditation by the Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development (CIPD)* and Chartered Management Institute (CMI) giving you professionally recognised qualifications (Level 5 Certificate in Management and Leadership) alongside your degree (* - CIPD still subject to approval)
- Opportunity to engage with a range of HR practitioners
- Throughout the course there is regular opportunity to engage with a range of practising managers, organisations, employers and entrepreneurs and take part in work related experiences and internships
- Programme of guest speakers which will enhance your learning and links with the business community
- Opportunity to study abroad without extending the length of your degree
- A 'Year in Industry' (sandwich year) for those on the with placement variant
- Use of 'real life' (live) projects in assessments giving you practical application of the theory
- Opportunity to compete in business simulation competitions both within the University and on national / international scales
- Opportunity to qualify as a Microsoft Office Specialist
- Systematic development of employability skills through a Continuing Professional Development framework (additional qualification on successful completion)
- Opportunity to learn a language
- Access to a range of specialist resources including, Financial Information Database (FAME) and Financial Times Interactive to support learning and research.
- Excellent personal and academic support. You will be allocated an academic tutor to support you throughout the programme

Admissions Criteria

You must meet the University's general entry criteria for undergraduate study.

If your first language is not English, you need to take an IELTS test or an equivalent qualification accepted by the University (see <https://www.yorksj.ac.uk/international/how-to-apply/english-language-requirements/>).

If you do not have traditional qualifications, you may be eligible for entry on the basis of Accredited Prior \(Experiential\) Learning \(APL/APEL\).

We also consider applications for entry with advanced standing.

Programme Aims

The BA (Hons) Business Management and HRM Programme is based on the philosophy that management development should be incremental.

The programme encourages you to develop the skills and competences of a HR practitioner. To do this, you should be capable of making HR based decisions at both a strategic and at a tactical level, emphasising the complexity and dynamics of management and taking cognisance of the integrative nature of the various factors which impinge upon business decisions. The programme incorporates frameworks for reviewing, reflecting, analysing and critiquing existing individual and organisational practices.

The outcome of this process will be a critical appreciation of HRM, in order to: make justified decisions; apply those decisions in a variety of contexts; communicating the decisions and make integrative links between disciplines and across organisations.

The aims of the programmes are to:

1. prepare you for a career in a rapidly changing business and social environment with the skills needed to adapt and develop as the environment changes;
2. provide a challenging, integrated programme of study that equips you with a sound general knowledge of organisations, their management and the global environments in which they operate, within the context of the guiding Principles for Responsible Management Education (PRME);
3. provide a vocationally relevant degree with professional recognition;
4. provide you with the opportunity to focus on particular aspects of HRM relevant to your background, interests and career aspirations through a choice of final independent research activity;
5. facilitate the development and demonstration of your intellectual skills of information processing, analysis, synthesis, critical appraisal, creativity and innovation and the ability to manage and make decisions in situations of ambiguity and uncertainty;
6. enable you to develop HR competences and research skills to enhance employability and support career advancement;
7. enable you to be a graduate who is able to improve the quality of management decision-making, leadership and business practice across a range of organisations and in a variety of contexts (with particular focus on HRM).

Note that to study abroad you must meet the university's standard study abroad requirements.

Continuing Professional Development

You are strongly encouraged to undertake the Certificate in Professional Development alongside your studies to prepare you for the world of work. You will be able to develop a range of academic and professional skills through a range of activities, exercises and events (which includes undertaking a 20 day work related activity) which will help you to progress through the course and into the job market, and provide the work based skills employers require. The University's graduate attributes will be further enhanced through this.

Study Abroad

You have the opportunity (subject to meeting the University Threshold Standards) to undertake a semester or full year abroad² as part of your studies during your second year.

Teaching, Learning and Assessment

All modules are delivered utilising a range of teaching, learning and assessment strategies including lectures, seminars, guest speakers, tutorials, workshops and a range of events and learning activities.

You are supported initially in the use of guided learning strategies in Level 4 developing towards autonomous, well-judged use of collaborative and independent learning strategies in Levels 5 and 6.

Throughout the programme you will be introduced to a range of different teaching and learning strategies. For example in Level 4 you will undertake simulation based learning (Ventures in Entrepreneurship) in which we use a computer-based simulation to develop your business skills through developing your awareness of market forces and the decision-making process you may require as a HR Manager or Advisor. At Level 5 (for example) there will be evidence of practice based learning (Developing Talent in Organisations) in which you will be expected to engage in practical based activities as you develop your skills in developing people, while also developing skills in managing projects (Research Methods and Project Management). Finally at Level 6 you will demonstrate your skills through practice and enquiry-based learning giving you the opportunity to develop creative and innovative solutions to problems (through Managing Organisational Development and Globalisation and Contemporary HR).

You will undertake a variety of assessments which include the use of written assignments (often in the form of reports), individual and group presentations, exams and tests, and practical activities. An essential part of the assessment is to encourage both learning and the development of skills as well as preparing you for the requirements of the workplace.

You will have opportunities for formative assessment and feedback to inform your work prior to submission and you will receive detailed feedback on assessments to help you develop and continuously improve your performance whilst on the programme. Advice will be provided in relation to development, further areas for research and guidance on how to enhance your knowledge of business and practice.

You will have the opportunity for study support including academic writing and research skills to enhance employability and career development in the field of human resources.

¹ Students must take 40 credits from either: a) Dissertation or; b) Developing a Business Research Project and Business Research Project or; c) Developing an Organisational Based Project and Organisational Based Project or d) Business Creation Project

² If you are taking the placement award you are only eligible for one semester abroad.

Date written / revised: updated July 2017

Alan Johnson advised Registry in May 2019 that 1BMH01, 2BMH01, 2BMB03, 2BMH02 and 3BMH01 are CA modules but not 3BMH03. This is to satisfy the professional body. Documents amended by JR. 18/19 spec already had the correct status.
