“ My graduation marks the end of my Drama: Education and Community course, but it’s just the start of my career in social justice. During my degree, I worked with the University’s Prison Partnership Project, driven by my belief in the power of creativity for social change.

It was this project that motivated me to apply for a place at York St John initially, so being able to contribute directly through my studies was incredibly fulfilling.

A highlight of my degree was being awarded the Institute for Social Justice Student Prize. The drive behind my work came from the fact that I believe everyone should have access to creative arts, because being creative can transform lives.

I’m thrilled to be carrying on into an MA in Applied Theatre that will hopefully lead to my dream of working as a practitioner within the criminal justice system. I’ve truly fallen in love with applied theatre practice and can’t wait to see what the future holds.

“ I was thrilled to be awarded a First in Accounting and Finance, a subject I chose because I have always been passionate about maths. I’ve worked so hard over the past 4 years for this, and my degree result made everything worthwhile.

I had to overcome anxiety when it came to exams. I used to put so much pressure on myself. My placement year massively helped me prepare for the working world and understand what to expect when starting my career properly.

I basically learnt everything there is to know about accounting. This included how to balance my time, how to prioritise things such as exam preparation and a lot about the world of business. We did a lot of case study sessions, which really helped me understand things in context.

I was able to take exams that carry exemptions from Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA) exams, so I have a head start to complete my professional qualifications. I see the things I learnt at York St John every day in my job as a tax associate for PwC (Price Waterhouse Coopers) in Dubai.

Why York St John?

Choosing a university is about finding a place where you can discover who you are, as well as selecting the right course. Every student matters to us and we’ll support you every step of the way.

“ Not only is York St John a beautiful campus, but the teaching and support here are fabulous. Whenever I have felt lost or confused, my tutor has never hesitated to help me. The confidence that the support and teaching here has given me is beyond what I thought I could have, and I continue to feel lucky to study on such a great campus.”

Harriett | Journalism

“ I didn’t want to study at a university that was too large or too small so York St John was the perfect choice for me. I wanted somewhere away from home, but not too far away, as well as being in a nice, student friendly city with opportunities to do a range of things at the weekend.”

Amber | Biomedical Science

“ York St John has an overall friendly atmosphere on campus. It’s small, easy to navigate and all the staff have been very friendly and helpful, especially when I needed help with assignments. Overall, my experience has been very positive and choosing to study here is one of the best choices I have ever made.”

“ Studying Graphic Design at York St John University helped me discover the person I am. With the support of the tutors and people close to me I was able to really push myself. The University has always been so helpful and the academic staff in the department really want to help. One of the best moments came in my third year when I was introduced to the print room. My tutor went above and beyond to help me, she taught me so much. York St John University teaches you who you are and what you want to be.

The perfect course for you

No matter where your interests lie or what drives your ambition, we’ll help you find the right course.

These pages give you an introduction to the many different subjects you can study with us. Follow the QR codes for the subjects that interest you to find out much more on our online course pages. These include detailed information about the modules you can study, how you will learn, and what to expect from the course.

We also offer:

- Foundation years, which have lower entry requirements and can help to prepare you for degree level study
- Postgraduate degrees, which you could progress onto after you graduate
- Degree apprenticeships, which are funded by employers

Find out about all of these on pages 90 to 91.

Within the School of Humanities we offer some joint honours courses. On these your learning is split equally across two related subjects.

See page 95 to check how many UCAS Tariff points your qualifications hold.

“ The best thing about my course has to be the opportunities it provided to volunteer at top level clubs. Taking advantage of the networks the staff and the University have allows you to apply the knowledge and skills you learn through university studies to real world athletes in the field. I have loved being at York St John, not only the course itself but the people I have met.”

Michael | Sport

“ The highlight of my time at York St John has been the overwhelming sense of pride and achievement in myself. It would not have been possible without York St John’s attitude to providing equal opportunities, and in bringing out the best in their students no matter their circumstances or background. For my second year placement module I did work experience with the city’s archive and library service, which was amazing.”

Societies and sport clubs

“ An experience that I absolutely loved was joining the Musical Production Society. It allowed me to meet many different new people from other years. When we put on The Addams Family at the Joseph Roentree Theatre I took on the role of Gomez. To be given an opportunity like that was amazing.”

Liam | Musical Theatre

“ Societies are a massive part of the social side of university. You make friends for life in those societies and it is a great creative outlet.”

Colette | Community Music

“ I joined the Men’s Football Club and it’s basically a giant family. It’s not just about going to play football, it’s so much more. It’s the socialising, the activity off the pitch which makes you feel like you’re part of a community.”

As a very mature student I struggled with imposter syndrome. Where I grew up, people didn’t go to university and although I have had a very interesting working life, I never had the opportunity to engage with higher education. Initially it was a learning curve, but with the encouragement and support from York St John University, I started to believe that I could do it.

“

The generous support from my tutors really helped me to make the leap when it came to submitting my stories, something I had no idea how to do before. I had little confidence in my writing before my MA and found showing my work to anyone else absolutely terrifying. The tutors gave me a huge boost in self-belief, and encouraged to take my writing seriously. I really feel like my writing transformed during the MA thanks to this nurturing and guidance.

When I looked around the University on an open day it was very welcoming and had a really nice atmosphere. The campus was near the city centre and it already felt like home. Studying in York is a once in a lifetime experience. It's a pleasant, friendly city and I would jump at the chance to go back! I studied English Language and Linguistics at York St John and then went on to study a PGCE in Primary Education (Upper).

“ The course has allowed me to question the very nature of what is legal and what isn't and how it conflicts with reason. It also has taught me the real world application that I will take forward. YSJ has prepared me for my future as they have given me the chance to find out what I really want out of life. They have shown me that any prospect is feasible if I work hard enough. ”

“ I love being part of such a friendly university and being able to study and work in a beautiful city. I really enjoy how practical, varied and interactive the teaching is. As well as having lectures and seminars, we have workshops where we develop practical skills, talks from service user's and clinicians, visits to local services, and of course placements. ”
