

What it is: TASCAM DR-100MK2

Includes:

USB cable (for charging internal battery).

What it does:

Enables high quality sound recording.

Further information:

A small and portable audio recording device with built-in microphones. Can also be used with external microphones via XLR.

Allows audio to be recorded separately to visuals. This may be for a research style interview where visuals are not necessary or for H&S purposes when you do not want cables trailing between the camera operator and sound recordist.

Available to all year groups.

Where to find it:

Booked and collected from the FTV support hub